

TellUs3 National Report

Issue date: September 2008

TellUs3 Survey

The TellUs3 survey was a survey of children and young people across England, asking their views about their local area, and including questions which covered the five Every Child Matters outcomes. The survey was carried out in Spring 2008. A sample of schools was selected within each local authority, representing the different types of schools in each area. The schools were then provided with guidance detailing how to select pupils to take part in the survey.

The report presents the questions in the same way they were presented to respondents. The questions were developed through cognitive testing with children, to ensure that they understood the questions and answered them in a meaningful way. This means that some of the questions, such as self-defining a disability, may not give data consistent with 'standard' definitions.

The responses from the survey were weighted to ensure that the report at local authority and national level represents the population of Year 6, 8 and 10 children within that area in terms of the following characteristics: gender, proportion of children eligible for free school meals in the school (as a proxy for deprivation) and type of school. Population data for 2007 from the Pupil Level Annual School Census was used to derive the weights, and the number of children attending Pupil Referral Units was obtained from the 2007 School Level Annual School Census.

The National Report

The national report provides data for the selected questions at national level. 148,988 individual responses from children and young people across 145 local authorities contributed to the national figures.

Sample characteristics (Section 1: About you)

This section gives details of the demographic characteristics of respondents to the survey (unweighted sample information). The rest of the survey data has been weighted, to account for any disproportionality between the sample and the population.

The five Every Child Matters Outcome sections (2: Being healthy, 3: Staying safe, 4: Enjoying and achieving, 5: Making a positive contribution, 6: Achieving economic well-being)

Data at national level within these sections of the report have been weighted to take account of differences between our sample population and the population of the 145 local authorities who took part in the survey. Differences were calculated in terms of gender, type of school and free school meals (as a proxy for deprivation). This means effectively that the national data is representative of the population of 145 local authorities, rather than all 150 local authorities. However, there were no substantive differences in terms of demographic and socio-economic characteristics of those local authorities which did take part and those which did not, so weighting the national data separately to be representative of the whole country would make very little difference.

Questions which were only asked of secondary school children are identified after the question as such (YEAR 8 & 10 ONLY).

Further details of the survey design and methodology can be found in the technical report.
